

Christological Trajectories in Process

Summer 2019

TPS-3### / TPS-4###

Claremont School of Theology

Professor:

Name: Tripp Fuller

Email: tripp@homebrewedchristianity.com

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Who was Jesus, called the Christ? Christology is often considered the most important topic of Christian theology. The attitude of process theologians to Christology is quite varied. Putting the Christ back into Christian, this course will be a survey and foray of Christological trajectories in process theology. From John Cobb, to David Griffin, and more, we will explore the unique and varied process contributions on questions like: Is Jesus God? How was God incarnate in Jesus? What is the significance of Jesus for process Christians?

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES:

Students who successfully complete this class will be able to:

1. Articulate the fundamental ideas of process theology.
2. Write perceptively about process theology on issues of Christology.

ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES:

Paper 3: A theological essay on Christology and process theology. 5-8 pages for 3000 level, 10-12 pages for 4000 level (assesses SLO #5). Due 1 August 2019.

COURSE TEXTS:

Note: Additional required reading may be provided via hyperlink or pdf.

David Ray Griffin. A Process Christology. Revised Ed. University Press of America, 1990.